OXFORD UNIVERSITY PRESS SUPPORTS OPEN ACCESS

Oxford University Press is the largest university press publisher of open access (OA) research. In line with our mission, we embrace OA to facilitate the widest possible dissemination of high-quality research by publishing over 100 journals that are fully open access and therefore freely available online.

Discover Oxford University Press's OA journals in the OA Brochure:

READ AND PUBLISH

Through an OUP Read and Publish deal, institutions can gain access to Oxford University Press's world-class journals. Their researchers can publish in OUP journals with the Article Processing Charge (APC) covered as part of the agreement.

By combining read access and open access publishing, authors can increase the impact of their research and customers can manage their costs effectively. This enables an increase in OA output whilst allowing for a streamlined and transparent agreement.

HOW IT WORKS

- On publishing an OA paper for one of the journals covered by the Read and Publish deal, authors can request that the APC fee is covered by their institution. They can find instructions for doing this on the Funding for Open Access page.
- The institution can approve requests and monitor remaining account funds via a secure, straightforward online dashboard.

WHY CHOOSE A READ AND PUBLISH DEAL WITH OUP?

- Increase your Open Access output
- Reduce your Open Access publishing costs
- Maximize discoverability and visibility of your institution's research
- Enjoy access to OUP's prestigious Journals Collection
